

www.bitfilm.com

Press contact: Andrea Koenig

Phone: +49 - 40 - 80 90 91 188

press@bitfilm.com

Press release December 16, 2008

bitfilm

Second Bitfilm Collection to be Released Today as a Download in DVD Quality

- twelve outstanding digital films per month
- download as a DVD file, DivX or MP4
- no copy protection, unlimited usage
- single issue 9,99 Euros
- one-year subscription, 12 issues: 99 Euros
- two-year subscription, 24 issues: 179 Euros
- download at www.bitfilm.com

On December 16, 2008 Bitfilm releases the second edition of the Bitfilm Collection.

It contains twelve groundbreaking digital animations, voted on the first ranks by the international audience of the Bitfilm Festival. The first edition, released in November, was received enthusiastically at cinema screenings in Berlin and Barcelona. Now the digital film experts from Bitfilm present their second compilation of short films, that they consider State of the Art of digital animation.

Any sort of digital rights management which would limit the usage of the films has been purposefully eschewed. You may save the Bitfilm Collection to DVD and watch it as many times as you like.

The target audience consists of fans of digital film culture in general, and especially of professionals in the film, advertising and media industry who need to keep track of new talents and new trends in digital animation around the world.

The Bitfilm Collection 0208 contains twelve films, among them: Fission (USA, Bitfilm FX Mix Award 07), Travel Diary (USA, Bitfilm FX Mix Award 06), Do Penguins Fly? (France), Popotla Sound Machine (Mexico), Plushood - Meet your New Neighbors (Israel) and The Big Brother State (Germany). All films are computer-generated, ranging from productions using 3D or 2D animation software, Machinima films shot live in computer games or realtime demos that come to life by self-written code.

Bitfilm Networks GmbH has been organising the international Bitfilm Festival for digital film and new media since 2000 and runs www.bitfilm.com, the international community platform for digital film professionals. Printable pictures and more information on Bitfilm can be found at www.bitfilm.com/press